

SECOND ROUND OF SECTIONAL HERE TONIGHT

FILLMORE AND CURS TO MEET IN SEMI-FINAL
SCRAP TOMORROW

Tonight
7:00 p. m.—Bainbridge vs. Cloverdale
8:15 p. m.—Reelsville vs. Roachdale
Saturday
1:00 p. m.—Fillmore vs. Greencastle.
2:15 p. m.—Friday night winners.
8:15 p. m.—Saturday afternoon winners.

It will be Bainbridge versus Cloverdale and Reelsville against Roachdale tonight in the second round of the sectional tournament at the Greencastle gym.

Fillmore's undefeated Cardinals and the local Tiger Cubs won their way to the 1 p. m. game of the semi-finals Saturday when the Cards eliminated Russellville, 64 to 45, and Greencastle stopped Belle Union, 59 to 32, in Thursday evening's competition.

The Fillmore-Cub tilt shapes up to be "the battle of the century" and the gymnasium will be packed to capacity long before the tip-off whistle. The East Putnam Cardinals will be seeking their 23rd straight win.

Russellville's Bees had plenty of sting during the opening minutes of their game with Fillmore Thursday and jumped into a 6-2 lead. The Cards braced to knol the count at 6-6 and then go ahead to hold a 13 to 9 advantage at the end of the first quarter.

Fillmore continued in front thereafter and piled up a 30 to 17 margin at halftime. It was 59 to 33 at the end of the third frame and the final score was 64 to 45.

The Tiger Cubs ran into similar trouble during the first quarter against a stubborn pack of Belle Union Panthers.

The contest was tied at 5-5 and 7-7 before Coach Tom Goldsberry's squad grabbed a one-point edge at the quarter, 12 to 11.

Belle Union fought all the way but Greencastle was out in front, 31 to 17 at the half, and 46 to 29 at the end of the third period.

Herschel Ross was high man on the totem pole in the scoring department for Fillmore as he dropped in 7 field goals and four free throws for a total of 18 points. Jim Osborne was high for Russellville with eight points.

R. J. Westfall led the Tiger Cub attack with 19 points. Allee's eight points proved best for Belle Union.

The gym was well-filled by the time the Card-Bee scrap started and most of the big crowd stayed put until the fourth quarter of the Cub-Panther conflict. Many of the spectators who had remained in their seats throughout the evening were surprised by the snow storm that greeted them when they left the building.

HEAD OF DPU GERMAN DEPT. WILL RETIRE

DR. GERHARD BAERG TO BE SUCCEDED BY HANS GRUENINGER

Dr. Gerhard Baerg, head of the German department at DePauw University for the past 22 years, will retire officially on July 1, and Dr. G. Hans Grueninger, currently professor of German here, will succeed him in that position.

President Russell J. Humbert, in making the announcement, also revealed the DePauw board of trustees has appointed Dr. Baerg to the rank of professor emeritus of German.

A member of the DePauw staff since 1931 and head of the German department since 1932, Dr. Baerg is a past president of the American Association of Teachers of German and of the Indiana Teachers of German.

Mercury Drops With Snowfall

That three to six inches of snow failed to come last night, but there was a big drop in the temperature from the high 50's to a snappy 25 degrees this morning.

The cold, with the snow that remained on the ground, made walking conditions bad in many spots today until the sun came up and melted the ice and snow where it was hidden. The weatherman promises much warmer temperatures from here on.

MOOSE INITIATION

The Greencastle Moose Lodge will conduct a class initiation and a 10 o'clock breakfast Sunday morning. The Bloomington ritual team will have charge.

TWO SITES WERE SUGGESTED FOR MONON STATION

LETTER WRITTEN IN 1853
BY R. L. HATHAWAY IS OF INTEREST

The Daily Banner is in receipt of copies of two letters, each more than 100 years old, concerning the Monon's centennial and the driving of the last spike, connecting the north with the south.

One has to do with the location of the station. One writer wanted it located near Mrs. Gillespie's garden, while another faction wanted it on the Daggy tract. This letter was written by R. L. Hathaway, on July 14, 1852. It says:

Greencastle, July 14, 1852
James Brooks Esqr:

Dear Sir:

Our citizens continue to feel a very deep interest in the location of the depot on your road and I am often urged to do something to secure it at the nearest point to the Public Square.

I am sorry that the interest of the business community and Mr. Daggy are not coincident in this matter as he has done so much for the road.

It has been found, on measurement, that the distance is twice as great to the site proposed on Mr. Daggy's land; and the road in the wet season of the year, I think, will be almost impassable, as it usually is.

Our citizens desire to know on what conditions they can secure the Depot at the nearest, practicable point to the Public Square and if that cannot be done whether you will extend the switch southerly beyond the old foundry and Mrs. Gillespie's garden far enough to erect upon it, at that point a block of warehouses, from which you will receive freight and also passengers as well as deposit the same regularly.

Our merchants do not seem inclined to go so far as the Mr. Daggy's pasture to erect warehouses and some of them say that if they have to erect warehouses so far from their business they might as well have them on the Terre Haute road at the nearest point (where they can have them) which will be but a trifle farther and perhaps, no farther from the South East corner of the Square.

I am not without some hope that you can devise a way to settle this matter nearly satisfactorily to all parties in interest and to save labor in all coming time.

Be pleased to let me hear from you at your earliest convenience.

Very Respectfully Yours
R. L. Hathaway

Battle Of Words Feud Continues

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26. (UP)—Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens was reported "jubilant" today over the "100 per cent" backing President Eisenhower gave him in his feud with Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy over treatment of Army witnesses before the Wisconsin Republican's investigating committee.

However, this development did little to settle the battle of words. McCarthy lashed back with a charge that Stevens had made a "completely false" statement in reporting he had received "assurances" Wednesday from members of McCarthy's Investigating Subcommittee that they would not permit "abuse" of officer witnesses in the "future."

Stevens remained silent on McCarthy's latest charge. A high administration source revealed the embattled secretary feels he won his fight late Thursday when Mr. Eisenhower endorsed his declaration "never to accede" to Army officers being "browbeaten or humiliated" by McCarthy.

This pledge, which Stevens delivered from the White House, same as a dramatic climax in the secretary's dispute with McCarthy.

Demos Will Seek Exemptions Hike

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26. (UP)—Democrats declared today they are going full speed ahead with their drive to boost income tax exemptions despite the administration's strong opposition.

Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey announced Thursday night that the administration "will vigorously oppose blanket increases" in exemptions because they would "throw us back into substantial deficit financing."

But Sen. Walter F. George, D-Ga., and Rep. John W. McCormack, assistant House Democratic leader, said the Democrats will not back water on their demands that exemptions for individual taxpayers and dependents be raised from $600 to at least $700.

Humphrey's statement, which was understood to have been "cleared" with the White House, declared that the administration's tax program "has not been changed." This call for tax reforms totaling about $1,250,000, 600 but rules out any general tax cuts while the country is running in the red.

FOREIGN DIVORCE SUIT

Court Affirms Farm Judgment

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 26. (UP)—The Indiana Supreme Court today affirmed a Clay Circuit Court judgement in favor of the State Bank of West Terre Haute in a mortgage foreclosure on a Clay county farm.

John A. and Mabel Hughes appealed charging error, and asked a new trial on grounds the Circuit court decision was contrary to law.

But the High court said Hughes and his wife failed to show the error, therefore raising "no question." The Supreme court opinion added that on the basis of oral arguments, the lower court decision probably would have been upheld even if the appellant's briefs had been complete.

Prison Officer Smuggled Dope

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 26. (UP)—A State Prison corrections officer who was caught smuggling drugs into the prison was fired Thursday, and corrections officials urged legislation to make such action a crime.

Corrections Chief Hugh P. O'Brien said Chester Drombowski hid about 75 dextrodine tablets and a vial containing paregoric in his shoes when he entered the prison for over-night duty Thursday.

Drombowski admitted bringing similar drugs into the prison on one earlier occasion, O'Brien said. They presumably were for prisoners.

The drugs were found when Drombowski, who had been watched for some time by Warden J. Ellis Overlade, was brought to Overlade's office for a thorough search. An earlier routine check given all prison officers when they enter the building failed to turn up the tablets and vial.

O'Brien and Overlade said the incident pointed up the need for legislation making the carrying of contraband into a penal institution a criminal act.

Authorities of the company and union said the seven—six of them union members—were formally notified this morning of their suspensions.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—

(INS)—The government reported today the cost of living rose three-tenths of one per cent in the month ended Jan. 15 but the figures mean a one-cent-an-hour pay loss for more than a million workers with "escalator" wage contracts.

The pay decrease—first of the kind since last April—results from the fact that the boost in living costs was not enough to keep the wage contracts of workers affected at levels based on the all-time high, reached last October.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—

(INS)—Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson announced today that farmers who fail to plant their full corn acreage allotment this year will not be penalized in future allotments.

Benson said farmers who plant 90 to 100 per cent of their 1944 corn crop allotment will be treated in future program as if the 1944 allotment were fully planted.

FRANKLIN, Ind., Feb. 26.—

(UP)—C. C. Vandivier, a Franklin mortician, was shot and wounded seriously Thursday night by a mysterious assailant who police said apparently watched through a window as he dined with a widow.

Vandivier was taken to Robert Long Hospital in Indianapolis.

Police said the shooting occurred as Vandivier left the home of Mrs. Pauline Dunlap a block from the Franklin business district at 8 p. m.

He was shot in the face with a blast from a shotgun fired at about 30 feet distance as he approached his auto parked in the dark beside the home of a neighbor of Mrs. Dunlap.

The assailant shot a second time from 20 to 25 feet when he saw Vandivier was still alive, and apparently fled in an old-model auto.

Dr. Humbert Is Kiwanis Speaker

Dr. Russell J. Humbert, in outlining the objectives of Kiwanis for 1954, stressed the theme, "Build By Faith, Loyalty, Service," in his excellent talk before the Greencastle Kiwanis Club at its weekly luncheon meeting at the DePauw Student Memorial Union on Thursday. In his talk the eight principles and objectives of Kiwanis were discussed. Dr. Humbert was introduced by Dr. Gerald Elliott, who arranged the program. Robert Gould presided.

"We believe that character and a sound spiritual foundation are essential to good citizenship and that we should assist and encourage all agencies which help develop these fundamental requirements," said Dr. Humbert, who gave as the objective of this principle, "Create better communities by strengthening our homes, churches and schools." Dr. Humbert followed this basis principle with comments on the other principles stressing a belief in youth, a respect for law and the rights of others, and the belief that the strength of a nation is reflected by its promotion of individual

SETTLEMENT IN BRICKER FIGHT NEAR, BELIEF

AMENDMENT NEARING AN END

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26. (UP)—The Senate's weary month-long debate on the Bricker Amendment neared an end today with leaders of both parties predicting a final settlement of the issue before nightfall.

Republican Leader William F. Knowland, Calif., said he is "reasonably sure" the Senate can finish action today on the treaty-control proposals. But he wouldn't predict the final outcome.

A substitute by Sen. Walter F. George, D-Ga., still pending as the Senate resumed debate, loomed as the only proposal with an outside chance of mustering the two-thirds vote necessary for final approval as a constitutional amendment.

George said he is "somewhat hopeful" of getting the necessary two-thirds and "I think we will come very close." He said "it depends on how the Republicans" who have supported over proposals vote in the final showdown.

After more than four weeks of debate and voting, the wrangle sifted down to four main remaining possibilities:

1. Approval of George's proposals.

2. Approval of a Republican leadership substitute, already tentatively adopted.

3. No action, through failure of any proposal to get the two-thirds vote for final approval.

4. Sending the issue back to the Judiciary Committee, although no further move along that line now seems in prospect.

In a 74-18 vote Thursday, the Senate killed an effort by Sen. Wayne L. Morse, Ind.-Ore., to return the entire issue to the committee. Morse made the move while George's substitute was being debated.

Earlier, it rejected, 50-42, a final effort by Sen. John W. Bricker, R-Ohio, to have one of his own compromise proposals added to the tentatively-approved administration substitute.

The home stretch debate centered on whether Congress should have some form of check on international agreements other than treaties which affect existing law within the United States.

The major provision of George's substitute provides that no international agreements—as distinguished from treaties—can become effective as domestic law without legislation by both houses of Congress.

Bricker's defeated proposal was similar but would have included treaties.

Dr. Humbert followed these four beliefs with a statement, "We believe that our American-Canadian heritage contains those basic principles most cherished by freedom-loving peoples, and that no subversive influence can survive aggressive citizenship. "But every card was wrong," defended Mr. Abel.

"Not so," Mr. Champion replied. "All you needed was to find Dale with as many as four diamonds and he had four diamonds."

This somewhat cryptic remark was lost on Mr. Abel for the moment, but let's start at the beginning and find out what was meant.

OPENS TRUMP

Mr. Dale opened a trump and the nine in the closed hand won. Now Mr. Abel saw that he had two possible losers in both spades and clubs. It occurred to him that if Mr. Dale had the queen of spades he would have to play it on the lead of a low spade toward dummy's jack.

If that happened, then the jack of spades would later knock out the ace and on the king of spades, a club could be discarded from the board. But when a low spade was lead at trick two Mr. Dale played low. The jack was put up and Mr. Masters won with the queen and returned the jack of clubs. After this, there was no way to avoid the loss of two clubs and two spades.

RUFF DIAMOND

Mr. Champion's suggested line of play was based on the obvious fact that it would be highly desirable to get a spade or club lead from Mr. Dale.

He would have played as follows. After winning the opening lead, cash the ace and king of diamonds and ruff a diamond. Enter dummy with a trump and lead a fourth diamond. When Mr. Masters failed to follow suit, discard the six of clubs from the closed hand.

Mr. Dale would have to win and would have only spades and clubs left. Any return would lose a trick for the defenders and let Mr. Abel make his contract.

LOOKING ...

... AT LIFE

By Erich Brandeis

Hospitals in general are "obsolete, costly and poorly managed," said Dr. Robert Collier Page, lecturer at the Harvard School of Public Health.

There is a crying need for modernization not only in equipment but also in management and administration, he told the Massachusetts Hospital Association.

Anybody who has ever been a patient in a hospital will probably heartily agree with Dr. Page, who is also medical chief of Standard Oil of New Jersey, and ought to know what he is talking about.

Many people—particularly those who enjoy good health—think hospitals are institutions filled with pretty nurses chased by persistent internes and getting married to famous surgeons, or millionaire patients.

During their spare time, these well-starved sirens sit on the edge of the patient's bed and hold his hands or are otherwise engaged in amorous pursuits, regardless of the patient's temperature.

At least that is the movie and television version of the average hospital. Sometimes you see the nurse bringing a tray-full of choicest delicacies to him, and even if the man has just had a serious stomach operation his meals consist of totally indigestible dishes.

But in real life it's entirely different.

In the first place, I have never found out why on earth they wake you up at such an ungodly hour in the morning and go through all the tiresome routines of hospital life long before it seems necessary. The hospital day is long enough without making it any longer and even more monotonous.

In the second place—this is a very small matter but it gets on your nerves—nine nurses out of 10 will never ask you, "How are you this morning?" or "I'll have to take your temperature." It's always, "How are we this morning?" or "We'll have to take our temperature."

In the third place, there are just as many homely nurses as there are homely women outside of hospitals. So don't you men have yourself an operation or a disease that requires hospitalization in hopes of being attended by an Arlene Dahl in white.

But here is another point. Usually, even when the nurses are pretty, the hospital book-keepers are about the most cold-blooded adding machines I have ever met.

Once, when I was not yet quite out of the ether, the accountant came into the room which had a big sign "No Visitors" on the door and asked my much worried wife for the first week's payment of the bill which had not even been rendered.

The other day I heard of a case where a little baby was badly burned. The parents rushed the infant to the nearest hospital, where admission was refused because they didn't have $100 with them.

The parents then drove to the county hospital, but the baby died on the way.

Hospitals are wonderful institutions. They can and do a lot of good. We could not get along without them.

But the managers of hospitals should remember that they deal with human beings and not with merchandise. And there are greater pains than those for which the patient went to the hospital.

The annual Honor Dinner in recognition of the basketball team and the band is being sponsored by the P. T. A. and Band Parents. It will be held in the gymnasium March 5. The entire community is invited to bring supper and enjoy the festivities in recognition of the work of these groups. P. T. A. President Elmer Evens and Band Parent President William Luther, Jr. are directing committees of arrangements which is expected to be the biggest ever, since two rather big occasions are being combined. Supper will be served at 6:30. All are urged to bring their own table service.

Miss Lucille King of the State Employment Service spent the day Feb. 22 interviewing seniors. Several weeks earlier, the group had been given aptitude and interest tests. Miss King interpreted these tests and advised students concerning their qualifications for future employment.

State School Inspector Davidson, County Supt. Hutchins and Trustee Mostetter visited the school February 23. Mr. Davidson was impressed with the improvement program being carried on.

Noel Nicholson began teaching mathematics and aeronautics February 22. He has replaced Earl Sutherland who resigned because of poor health. Mr. Nicholson, a prominent farmer, formerly taught at Bainbridge and is well qualified to fill the position.

Also we would be glad to have patrons eat hot lunch with us. However it will be necessary to purchase lunch ticket for 35c.

Don't forget the date, March 1st. Plan to visit school that afternoon and night.

Parents of children of kindergarten age who would like them in kindergarten this summer should get their enrollment blanks from Miss Pickett at once and return them before March 10th. Kindergarten is the bridge that fills the big gap between home and school and it is important for children to have this valuable training if possible.

ROACHDALE SCHOOL

Recently the program committee of local PTA organization of Roachdale, requested that our school have an exhibit or some other project which would give the Public, parents in particular, an idea of what we are doing in school. We have decided that having regular class at a time when patrons could visit school would give a better sampling. On the first day of March school will take up at 1:22 1/2 p. m. instead of 8:22 1/2 and be over at 8:30 instead of 3:30. Hot lunch will be served from 4:00 p. m. until 5:15 instead of from 11:00 until 12:00 and buses will run to comply with the changed time for that day only. In other words, March 1 will be open house at our school and we hope that many of you patrons will visit us that day.

Also we would be glad to have patrons eat hot lunch with us. However it will be necessary to purchase lunch ticket for 35c.

Don't forget the date, March 1st. Plan to visit school that afternoon and night.

See Salesmanship Solving
Present Economic Problems

U. S. Liquid Assets Total
Four Times That of 1940

Special to Central Press

WASHINGTON—High government officials—including many who were recruited to the Eisenhower administration from the ranks of big business—believe that old-fashioned American salesmanship will go a long way toward solving present economic problems.

These men point out that liquid assets in the United States are four times the 1940 totals, with double the purchasing power; that ample credit is available at reasonable rates, and that personal savings and income are higher than ever before, and more evenly distributed.

The experts say that these things add up to vast purchasing power, which can be unlocked by the kind of salesmanship that became a lost art during the era of war-borne prosperity, in which the demand for consumer goods exceeded the supply.

Administration spokesmen are particularly irked at what they have labeled "prophecies of gloom and doom," for fear that widespread pessimism may intimidate potential customers into hoarding their money.

They believe that salesmen, earnestly selling their wares in the rugged competitive spirit once characteristic of the American way, can be the best weapon against a recession.

SAVINGS—A congressional committee recently was impressed by facts and figures concerning one of these prosperity factors—savings. They were given to the joint House-Senate economic committee by Arthur A. Smith, vice president of the First National bank of Dallas, Texas.

He said that despite rising prices, the American people have saved more money since 1939 than in any similar period in United States history. A point worthy of note, he said, is that the "vast majority of people who save do not themselves determine the real economic use to which their savings are put."

The banker explained that such decisions are made largely by institutions with which the people have entrusted their savings—banks, savings and loan associations and insurance firms.

Smith said the big problem still remaining in the American economic picture is that "despite the fact we are the most advanced people in the world in matters economic, we still have not found for sure what it is that swings the economy periodically from expansion to contraction."

Smith urged a doubling of efforts to find out the identity of the "ingredient" in the "economic pie" which causes it to sag.

BIG FOUR—Perhaps the greatest accomplishment of the Big Four Foreign Ministers Conference in Berlin was to give the West an insight into Soviet foreign policy under Premier Georgi Malenkov. Although this was a purely negative result, and added up to no more than an extension of cold war tensions inaugurated under the late Joseph Stalin, it nevertheless has given the Allies a factual basis on which to plan in the field of foreign policy.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles returned to the United States convinced little is to be gained by the kind of negotiations carried on in Berlin. Dulles must feel that Russia reacts only to world "realities" and that the West will have to conceive and execute policies which will make it advantageous for the Kremlin to seek settlements.

This realization brought about an end to the Berlin blockade and to the Communist uprising in Greece. It is what the free world is working for in Indo-China, what the Allies hope has been accomplished in Korea.

For the West, it has become axiomatic that the United States, Britain and France must deal with Russia out of a position of economic and military power.

LIP SERVICE TO EGYPT UNITY

MARCH OF EVENTS

See Salesmanship Solving Present Economic Problems

U. S. Liquid Assets Total Four Times That of 1940

Special to Central Press

WASHINGTON—High government officials—including many who were recruited to the Eisenhower administration from the ranks of big business—believe that old-fashioned American salesmanship will go a long way toward solving present economic problems.

These men point out that liquid assets in the United States are four times the 1940 totals, with double the purchasing power; that ample credit is available at reasonable rates, and that personal savings and income are higher than ever before, and more evenly distributed.

The experts say that these things add up to vast purchasing power, which can be unlocked by the kind of salesmanship that became a lost art during the era of war-borne prosperity, in which the demand for consumer goods exceeded the supply. Administration spokesmen are particularly irked at what they have labeled "prophecies of gloom and doom," for fear that widespread pessimism may intimidate potential customers into hoarding their money.

They believe that salesmen, earnestly selling their wares in the rugged competitive spirit once characteristic of the American way, can be the best weapon against a recession.

President Eisenhower

President Eisenhower

• SAVINGS—A congressional committee recently was impressed by facts and figures concerning one of these prosperity factors—savings. They were given to the joint House-Senate economic committee by Arthur A. Smith, vice president of the First National Bank of Dallas, Texas.

He said that despite rising prices, the American people have saved more money since 1939 than in any similar period in United States history. A point worthy of note, he said, is that the "vast majority of people who save do not themselves determine the real economic use to which their savings are put."

The banker explained that such decisions are made largely by institutions with which the people have entrusted their savings—banks, savings and loan associations and insurance firms.

Smith said the big problem still remaining in the American economic picture is that "despite the fact we are the most advanced people in the world in matters economic, we still have not found for sure what it is that swings the economy periodically from expansion to contraction."

Smith urged a doubling of efforts to find out the identity of the "ingredient" in the "economic pie" which causes it to sag.

• BIG FOUR—Perhaps the greatest accomplishment of the Big Four Foreign Ministers Conference in Berlin was to give the West an insight into Soviet foreign policy under Premier Georgi Malenkov.

Although this was a purely negative result, and added up to no more than an extension of cold war tensions inaugurated under the late Joseph Stalin, it nevertheless has given the Allies a factual basis on which to plan in the field of foreign policy.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles returned to the United States convinced little is to be gained by the kind of negotiations carried on in Berlin. Dulles must feel that Russia reacts only to world "realities" and that the West will have to conceive and execute policies which will make it advantageous for the Kremlin to seek settlements.

This realization brought about an end to the Berlin blockade and to the Communist uprising in Greece. It is what the free world is working for in Indo-China, what the Allies hope has been accomplished in Korea.

For the West, it has become axiomatic that the United States, Britain and France must deal with Russia out of a position of economic and military power.

LIP SERVICE TO EGYPT UNITY

THIS SAMPLE of at least lip service to Egyptian government unity shows ousted President-Premier Mohammed Naguib (left) embracing Lt. Col. Gamal Abdel Nasser, 36, then vice premier, before the cabinet crisis which resulted in Naguib's resignation and Nasser's elevation as his successor for the "state of emergency." Naguib, 52, reportedly kept trying for more and more dictatorial power. (International Soundphoto)

The answers to everyday insurance problems*
By SIMPSON STONER

QUESTION: Somebody remarked the other day that it would be foolish to pay for Household Theft Insurance because of a person was willing to wait long enough, the stolen property would eventually be recovered. Can you tell me about this?

ANSWER: Insurance statistics show that with the exception of automobiles, only about twenty per cent of stolen property is ever recovered. This figure includes property recovered sometimes years after theft is committed.

* If you'll address your own insurance questions to this office, we'll try to give you the correct answers and there will be no charge or obligation of any kind.

Another letter was written by William L. Hart. It says:

Cloverdale, Dec. 20th, 1852.
Mr. James Brooks,
President of the
New Albany & Salem R.R. Co.
Dear Sir:

It is with a view of enlisting your action and influence in ac??ing Mr. Sam Harrah from six shares in said road (as Mr. Daggy will not incur any responsibility in the case and refers me to you) which were obtained under the following circumstances, as you know we were hard run to get our required amount made up here, and as you knew there was a survey made about a mile and a half or two miles east of this place and some on that line even thought likely it might go that route so that Mr. Harrah (living on that line) and myself, made a verbal agreement that if the road should be located there I was to be neighborly and take six shares on his line and if it should be located through Cloverdale and Putnamville he would take six shares at Cloverdale. So that when I made a return of my subscription list I, in the absence of Mr. Harrah, just set down the 6 shares to him, knowing that this was our last effort and would secure us The Road, but he now refuses to acknowledge his shares but has taken them at Putnamville, so now as Mr. Harrah is taking on considerably and to save me from any more trouble and difficulty, I hope you will just release him from the said shares as I do not wish to incur any responsibility about it. Though if I had not taken already as many shares as I am able to handle I would take them myself, but as it is it is not convenient for me to do so, therefore I hope you will take the shares and advise Mr. Daggy to release the whole arrangement rather than have any more fuss about it, and very much oblige. Your Ast. Secat., Wm. L. Hart.

Young Backed By Wealthy Texans

NEW YORK, Feb. 26--(UP) Two Texas millionaires lined up behind Robert R. Young today in his bid to gain control of the New York Central Railroad.

The wealthy Texans, Clint Murchison of Dallas and Sid Richardson of Fort Worth, bought 20 million dollars worth of New York Central stock.

Their power as stockholders will bolster Young's effort to elect a new board of directors for the Central at a meeting May 26 at Albany, N. Y. Young will be named chairman if his slate of directors is elected.

Murchison and Richardson, who own vast oil and gas properties in the Southwest, each paid $25 a share for 400,000 shares in the Central. In a statement issued at Dallas, Tex., they said they bought the stock "for investment purposes."

Young, who was born in Texas and is a personal friend of the investors, could count on their votes in his effort to wrest control of the railroad from what he calls "Morgan banking interests."

The stock, representing a 12 1/4 per cent interest in the Central was bought from the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad. Young had been chairman of the C & O until he sold his stock in that railroad a month ago.

Wall Street experts said Young and his friends now have about 16 per cent of the Central's 6,447,413 shares. Under ordinary circumstances, this would give him enough votes to elect his own board of directors at the stockholders meeting in Albany. Young was said to have the backing also of a Woolworth dime store heir and a rich Midwest banker who also own stock in the New York Central. Walter J. Toughy, president of the C & O, said at Cleveland

the sale of the Central shares resulted in a profit of $2,400,000 for C & O shareholders.

ham and children of Greencastle called on Mr. and Mrs. Lee Wells and Mrs. Chester Wells and daughter Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Eva McNary is staying with Mrs. Edith Ruark while Mrs. Moore is in Rushville. Lois Zeiner and family moved to the Ike Hammond farm.

Mrs. Ellen Alexander was ill Tuesday and Mrs. Della Smyth spent the day with her.
